

Sapoznik Insurance Participates in Backpack Drive for North Miami Elementary

Miami, Florida. August 16, 2019 – Building on its long-standing commitment to serving the needs of children, Sapoznik Insurance is thrilled to participate in a backpack drive for North Miami Elementary School. Sapoznik is passionate about public school education in our community.

It doesn't take much to equip the students with the essential supplies to start the school year, but for some, those supplies are out of reach financially. With 98.4% of students in North Miami Elementary School enrolled in free or reduced lunch programs, many families are faced with the decision to choose between, shelter, food, clothing over school supplies. Furthermore, it is not uncommon for teachers to take on the financial burden with their limited salaries, and spend their own money to keep their classrooms stocked with the necessary supplies.

“Education is the right of every child,” said Rachel Sapoznik, president and CEO of Sapoznik Insurance. “The lack of school supplies shouldn't stand in the way of our students receiving the education they need. Additionally, the teachers shouldn't have to reach into their own pockets and pay for the supplies. Anything helps. I am so proud of my team members for donating their time and money to ensure these students have the proper tools to set them up for the successful school year that they deserve.”

North Miami Elementary was introduced to Sapoznik when a team member participated in the Education Fund's Annual Teach-A-Thon, and Sapoznik has been actively involved in the school ever since. The Teach-A-Thon is an annual fundraiser where business professionals around the community teach a lesson in a Miami-Dade County public school. Not only do they have the opportunity to step in the shoes of a teacher, they also have the opportunity to raise money.
